The Trade Review, writing on the above

We are glad to be able to say that Canada is now entering into the manufacturers or cheese in good earnest. One would suppose that a greater anomaly than an agricultural country like Canada buying cheese abroad, could hardly exist, and yet up till now, very recently we bought largely from our Yankee neighbors. During the twelve years ending in July, 1885, we purchased from them close on $2,000,000 worth. This was very absurd when we could make cheese just as good and just as cheap ourselves. However, we are glad to know that a remedy is being rapidly applied, and that those factories are going up all over the country—the farmers of Ontario and Quebec vying with each other in this respect. Some of the establishments started a few years ago have paid well, and in localities where there is plenty of fodder for cattle, the business can be entered into with every certainty of success, if properly conducted. Several factories recently put up, are now waiting for spring to commence operation, whilst others are about to be erected in various localities.

The success of these factories in N. Y. removes any doubt as to their paying those who enter into the business here. This State is nearly full of factories, and the dairies are very generally successful. The general opinion there is, that cheese-making pays better than wheat growing, and even the butter-making. Our own cheese-makers give the same report, and wherever enterprising men start such establishments, the farming community should afford them every encouragement. Any farmer who has good pasture land may rest assured that, judiciously managed, dairy farming will afford handsome profits.

Canada should not only not have to pay chase is chiefly cheese abroad, but is a large exporter of that article, which is always good demand in the markets of the world. Our exports of butter ought also to be increased. To effect this, an improved mode of making butter is greatly needed in some sections. It does not rank so high in quality as our cheese does, and does not command that price which it ought. One of the main causes of this is, that the making of butter is regarded as a secondary consideration by the great bulk of farmers. When as much attention is bestowed upon it as on raising grain, there will be no cause to complain of its quality.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR PETROLEUM.—America, according to the Palm Mall Gazette, is not likely to enjoy very long a monopoly of the supply of petroleum. A mineral has been discovered in Italy which threatens to prove a formidable rival to the American article. It is called 'foccolina,' and is produced at a place named Tocco Casare, near Pescara, in the southern Neapolitan provinces. It was discovered by an enterprising citizen of Ancona, who has communicated some facts respecting it to our cousin there, Mr. Gaggiotti. It appears that this oil for many years has been the subject of attention by many eminent men, who, for the want of means or energy, could not carry out any project for utilizing it. The people living near the place produce little or no attention to it, satisfying themselves with gathering some of the liquid and using it as asphalt for pavements. The rest, which was greatly increased by heavy rains, found its way to the sea. Experiments made upon this bituminous substance by eminent men, English, French and Italian, show that it is likely to be

One day in the hundreds of thousands of barrels of oil, and the American petroleum industry is not only in price, but in quality. It is proposed to form a company, with a moderate capital, in order to work this new branch of industry. Experience has proved, it is said, that 90 per cent. of the raw liquid after being distilled and refined can be made use of, whereas American oil produces little more than 60 per cent. of the raw material. The flame produced from this oil is brighter, we are told, than from any other yet seen. A distillery has been built upon a small scale at Porto Cesi, a few miles from Ancona.

ACCIDENT TO LORD BURY.—An accident has occurred to Lord Bury, while using a rifle at Kilburn range. The following is his own account:—"I was trying a rifle converted into a breechloader by Mr. Geo. Prince, at the Kilburn range. The rifle exploded at the breech, blowing away the covering of the breech and twisting interior works. I found myself ankle-deep in the ground, bleeding profusely, and with the cartilage of my nose broken. My eyes escaped, but a considerable quantity of powder was blown into my face. The primary cause of the accident is the bursting of the metal base of the cartridge. I have known several instances in which cartridges with metal bases have made dangerous explosions at the breach, and as this is the first cartridge in which many thousands of pounds of government money have been expended, I think it at least worthy of inquiry whether the accident which so nearly proved fatal to me was not preventable.

an advertisement in the New York Herald the other day, gives a clue to the class of frauds, and shows that knaves are already at work preparing for them. The advertisement, which was addressed to bankrupts generally, sets forth as "for sale, without cash, lands in all parts of the country; also county mortgages, and stocks and other securities, suitable for assets." Worthless titles, fictitious values, mortgages and certificates of stock not worth the paper on which they are printed, are communities here offered as suitable assets, and there can be no doubt that the scoundrels enough ready to avail the selves of so cheap material for the manufacture of a showy but dishonest balance-sheet.

—N. Y. Times.

THE The police record of New York says the Sun, makes us acquainted with the alarming fact that within the last two weeks, no less than six girls are known to have been stolen from their homes in the city for the worst purposes. How many more cases of the same kind have occurred are unknown to the public, is a ter of terrible conjecture. The or-kidnapping children and young girls increased lately to a frightful extent.
